Dear Sirs,

During October, your company completed a full replacement to an original flat tar and gravel roof of my home which was over 35 years old and which had begun to leak.

I appreciated the time which was taken initially to explain in detail the choices offered to me to have the work completed and at set costs. I was assured that only experienced workmen who work as a team would be on the job and that nothing would be left to chance.

Finally, the confidence level was boosted by assuring me that Boss Roofing would not be satisfied unless their work was done right (by manufacturer's specifications) and I was fully satisfied.

Overall I was highly impressed with the manner in which the work was undertaken and completed in such a professional way. Although uncontrolled weather conditions interrupted the desired timing of the work flow, never was the roof left unsealed. The workmen who finished the metal trim provided an attractive, sealed finish to a project which now also has eye appeal.

In conclusion, Boss Roofing has certainly won my confidence as a roofing company that did an excellent job at a fair price and warrants this unsolicited credit for a job well done.

In appreciation,

Gord MacLean
